Australian Financial Services Licence No 294848

Dated: 12 April 2007

What is a Financial Services Guide?

This Financial Services Guide ('FSG') is an important document which we are required to give to you under the requirements of our Australian Financial Services Licence. It provides you with information about Cunningham Securities Pty Ltd ("Cunningham Securities") to help you decide whether to use the financial services we provide. This FSG explains the services we can offer to you and the types of products we offer. It also explains how we (and other related persons) are remunerated for these services, and includes details of our internal and external complaints handling procedures and how you can access them.

If you choose to use our services you may also receive from us a Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) or offer document and/or a Statement of Advice (SOA).

Who are we and who will be responsible for the advice given to me?

Our Australian Financial Services Licence is 294848.

Cunningham Securities is a boutique firm having been established since 2001. We have built a strong reputation for performance and service.

Any financial services offered will be provided by a representative of Cunningham Securities. Cunningham Securities is licensed under the Corporations Act to provide these services to you.

We do not act as a representative of any other licensee in relation to the services we provide you.

You can contact us by:

What financial services does Cunningham Securities offer me?

Share trading - our Advisers can offer you the service level you require from research and portfolio management to pure "execution only" no advice service.

Financial strategies - the majority of our Advisers are accredited to provide advice on, shares, managed funds and derivatives such as warrants and options. The scope of the advice provided covers specific strategies in the following areas:

- Margin lending
- Options trading
- Portfolio construction and management
- Trading strategies
- Corporate advisory

Will you give me advice that is suitable and personalised to my investment needs and financial circumstances?

Yes! Your Adviser is obliged to have a reasonable basis for recommendations made to you. However, to do so your Adviser needs to find out your individual investment objectives, financial situation and needs before they can recommend any investment to you. We will therefore ask you for information at the time you open an account with us. This will be the Client Profile and should be signed and returned to us.

You have the right not to divulge this information to us, if you do not wish to do so. Your Adviser will then be limited in their ability to make recommendations specific to your requirements. If you decline to provide sufficient information then it is a requirement of opening an account at Cunningham Securities that you at least sign the investment profile and tick the limited response option on page two. Following this any advice given to you will come with the below warning.

Warning:

This advice is based on information we have obtained about you. You must ensure the information is accurate and complete. Otherwise this advice may be based on inaccurate or incomplete information about your investment objectives, financial situation or needs, to act upon this advice. If your personal circumstances have changed since giving us this information then you need to inform your advisor.

Please be advised that in cases where Cunningham Securities and your advisor have been provided with inaccurate or incomplete information by you associated with your relevant personal and financial circumstances (as outlined in your Investment Profile), you should, before acting on the advice, consider the appropriateness of the advice, having regard to your own relevant personal and financial circumstances.

Cunningham Securities, its Principals, employees and advisors may earn brokerage or commission from any transactions undertaken on your behalf as a result of acting on this information. Cunningham Securities, its Director/s and employees advise that they may hold securities, may have an interest in and/or earn brokerage and other benefits or advantages, either directly or indirectly, from client transactions.

When will I receive a Statement of Advice?

You will receive a Statement of Advice (“SoA”) each time you receive advice from your advisor, unless the advice is Further Market Related Advice (see below). Your first SoA sets out your client profile and an investment strategy as agreed between yourself and your Adviser. Subsequent SOAs will detail any changes to your circumstances or new or modified advice that you have received. The SoA will also outline the advice you have received or will receive, the commissions or payments that Cunningham Securities and your Adviser will receive as a result of carrying out the agreed transactions and any other conflicts of interest that may possibly influence the advice you are given.

Further Market Related Advice

Your Adviser maintains a record of all the advice that you receive, even though you have not received a SoA. You can request a record of all your Further Market Related Advice which is given to you at any time by simply contacting Cunningham Securities.

What financial services and products do we offer?

The Cunningham Securities licence authorises the licensee to carry on a financial services business to:

- (a) provide financial product advice for the following classes of financial products:
 - (i) deposit and payment products - basic deposit products;
 - (ii) derivatives;
 - (iii) interests in managed investment schemes, excluding IDPS
 - (iv) securities; and
- (b) deal in a financial product by:
 - (i) apply for, acquiring, varying or disposing of a financial product on behalf of another for:
 - (A) deposit and payment products - basic deposit products;
 - (B) derivatives;
 - (C) interests in managed investment schemes, excluding IDPS; and
 - (D) securities; and
 - (ii) underwriting an issue of securities.

to retail and wholesale clients.

Your adviser is authorised to give you advice and deal for you on each of the financial products once they have completed their industry training. Not every adviser deals for example in derivatives, so ask your Adviser which specific financial products they are able to advise on.

We do not provide financial planning services and only give personal financial product advice to clients we have detailed financial information about. We will not give you personal financial advice when you visit our website or if we email you from our email list.

If we provide you with personal financial product advice rather than general financial product advice we will give you a SoA although it will be limited personal advice as we may not have a detailed financial profile completed for you.

Personal financial product advice is advice that takes into account one or more of your objectives, financial situation and needs. The SoA will contain the advice, the basis on which it is given and information about fees, commissions and any associations which may have influenced the advice.

What should I know about any risk of the investments or investment strategies you recommend to me?

We will explain to you any significant risks of investments and strategies that we recommend. If we do not do so, you should ask us to explain those risks to you prior to accepting a recommendation or advice. We require your risk profile to be declared to us at the time of opening your account.

Equity securities, in common with all the other asset classes (e.g. real property and government bonds) can decline in value as well as appreciate. The measure of this change in value is often referred to as volatility. The more the value varies over time, the more volatile the asset is and therefore the more risk involved in investing in it. On the other hand the less volatile an asset is, the less likelihood there is for any significant capital gain or loss from investing in that asset. Equity securities are generally more volatile than other asset classes, however, the markets for other asset classes are often not as efficient or transparent as the stock market in terms of the information available to investors and the process for continuously determining and making public the real market value of the particular asset. For this reason the real volatility of those other assets is often not fully appreciated.

In general, the risks of investing in equities can be categorised in the following manner. Please note that the list below does not purport to be complete, as it would not be feasible to list all the possible risks in each category.

- Overall Market Risk
- Domestic versus International Risk Factors
- Sector Specific Risk Factors
- Stock Specific Risk Factors

What are the alternative investment strategies available to me?

- Review Investment Profile
- Income yield
- Capital Stable
- Blue Chip Profile
- Growth Oriented
- Balanced Income Growth
- Speculative Risk Trading

Remember our Advisers make their recommendations based on the information available to them at the time of advising you. Markets can move extremely quickly. Therefore, you should satisfy yourself that the investment you are considering is suitable for your time frame and your risk profile. When assessing your tolerance to risk you need to ask yourself “how much of my capital am I prepared to lose” as well as deciding whether your strategy will employ an aggressive growth strategy (with high risk) but with the potential to achieve a higher return or whether you are more interested in modest returns and capital preservation (with less potential for loss). As has been evidenced by past market events it is possible to lose money on “blue chip” shares.

How can you transact with us?

You can give us instructions by telephone, mail, fax, email or in person. Any dealings with us by telephone or fax will be governed by our standard ‘telephone and fax terms and conditions’. These terms and conditions are contained in the PDS (or offer document) for each product and are also available from our website at www.cunninghamsec.com.au

What commissions, fees or other benefits are received?

Cunningham Securities and its advisers are remunerated by commissions from the company you are investing in or by brokerage on the transaction you are entering into. The commission will be in the range of 0.5% to 15%, with a minimum brokerage of between $1000 and $77. The commissions may be in the form of shares or cash. We may also receive a trail commission for investments from Fund Managers.

Your Adviser is required to set out the remuneration and commissions they receive in the SOA which they must give to you.

Our Representatives are remunerated on a wholly commission basis. Commissions range between 10% and 90% of fees received by Cunningham Securities.

Cunningham Securities and its advisers may also be required to disclose specific conflicts of interests such as owning shares in the companies you are investing in, receive other fees or benefits. If we do, we will disclose each specific conflict of interest to you.

How is my personal information dealt with, what information do you maintain in my file and can I examine my file?

We maintain a record of your personal profile which includes details of your investment objectives, financial situation and needs.

Personal information collected from you to compile your personal profile may include information such as your financial circumstances, your interests, investment objectives, investment experience, annual income, Net Worth, existing Investments, age, occupation and the level of risk you would like to have with your investments.

We will not disclose your information to any other person except where such disclosure is authorised by the National Privacy Principles or required by law (for example to our regulators).

From time to time we would like to be able to use your personal information to tell you about seminars, services and new offers. If you do not wish to receive this information, please contact us as set out below.

Our Professional Indemnity Insurance

Cunningham Securities has in place Professional Indemnity Insurance with QBE Insurance (Australia) Limited. This insurance covers up to $1,000,000 for any one claim and a total of $1,000,000 for multiple claims inclusive of legal costs arising from the claim(s).

The insurance covers claims in relation to financial product dealings (eg. shares and options), underwriting of financial products, the investment of funds and the provision of advice relating to financial products including any research undertaken by Cunningham Securities.

Should you wish to obtain further information in relation to our insurance, please contact us.

Who can I complain to if I have a complaint about the advisory service?
